Better Acceptance Drives Better Compliance

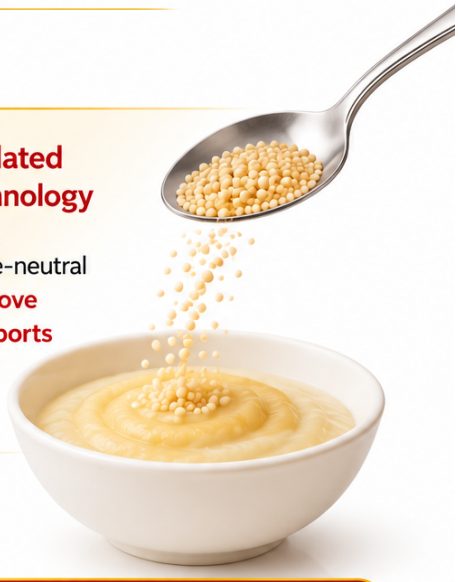

Acceptance challenges may limit the effectiveness of pediatric iron therapy.

Conventional Iron Supplements Often Face Acceptance Challenges

- Metallic taste may reduce acceptance
- May be associated with GI discomfort
- May be challenging to mix with daily foods
- Poor compliance may lead to inadequate iron intake

Encapsulated Iron Technology

Delivers iron in a taste-neutral form that helps improve acceptance and supports better compliance.

Better Acceptance → Better Compliance → Better Iron Intake

Source: NFHS-5 (2019–21), Ministry of Health & Family Welfare, Government of India.

Ref 1: Journal of Pediatric Gastroenterology and Nutrition – Microencapsulated Iron and Taste/GI Tolerance.

Ref 2: Am J Clin Nutr. 'Sprinkles: A New Approach for Prevention of Iron Deficiency Anemia in Infants and Young Children.'